Paul Adams starts today as CEO of Jemena

Paul Adams started work today as the new Chief Executive Officer of Jemena Ltd.

Paul has over 25 years experience in the Australian energy sector where he has held a range of senior technical and commercial positions.

Formerly General Manager of TXU Networks, and most recently General Manager, Network Services at SP AusNet, Paul's experience covers the management of gas and electricity transmission and distribution networks.

Singapore Power Group CEO Mr Quek Poh Huat said "With Paul at the helm, the Jemena team is well placed to continue to deliver high quality asset management services and infrastructure development functions to all of our clients and partners".

Paul is well known and regarded in the gas and electricity industries and is a Director of the Energy Networks Association (ENA).

Lim Howe Run will continue to assist Paul as the Deputy Chief Executive Officer for Jemena.
